II.1.4) Short description of the contract or purchase(s)

The European Central Bank (ECB) is building its new headquarters on the site of the former wholesale market in Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany. The successful contractor shall supply, maintain and support (both operationally and functionally) components of an IT solution to support the facility management (FM) processes for these new ECB premises (NEP) and other premises owned or leased by the ECB.

The solution will be required to be integrated into the current ECB IT landscape and thereby utilise as effectively and efficiently the IT tools already existing; in particular the document management, technical drawing and ERP tools. In respect to the latter, a number of core administrative processes have been implemented in SAP ERP and modules will need to be integrated into the proposed FM solution. In this respect relevant SAP modules may include: FI, CO, HR, FM, SRM, MM and AA. As such, to deliver the required solution, the successful bidder will be required to both develop within these SAP modules and seamlessly use functionality already available. In addition a number of other core processes are being implemented in SAP through parallel projects to the IT-NEP-FM that will fulfil functions including; contract, warranty, inventory and lease (property) management. Again, the successful bidder will be required to seamlessly use SAP functionality provided by these projects. Additional (non-SAP) functionality may be provided to meet requirements not readily supported by SAP or where the development of an SAP-based solution would not prove to be effective and efficient over the duration of the contract.

The scope of the contract will include the supply of the necessary licences, system design, development, integration, implementation, maintenance and support and finally any future upgrading of the proposed system.
